WILL FEAST ON 'POSSUM.

Mr. Long Catches Animal in Chicken Coop Friday Night.

Geo. P. Long and his friends will feast on a 'stag' supper of opossum some time during the next month, or as soon as he can get the animal good and fat and his birthday rolls around.

For several nights past something has been interfering with his chickens, and while he would always respond to their noise, he was not able to detect the exact cause until Friday night, when, with the assistance of his faithful dog, who tread the 'possum, he managed to catch him as he was starting off on a run.

Mr. Long has placed the animal in a box and will prepare him for his big birthday supper next month, when a general good time will be had by all who are fortunate enough to be present.

Beautiful Birthday Party.

From Sunday's Daily Sun:

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Walker, 109 South Palmetto avenue, was given a most bountiful dinner yesterday in celebration of the former's birthday. The table was tastefully decorated and the color scheme was carried out in white and green. The small tables in the dining-room were laden with ferns and white flowers.

In the center of the dining-table was a beautiful hand-embroidered centerpiece edged with Irish lace, upon which the birthday cake rested. Across the center of the cake was the date of his birth, Aug. 24, above which was the year of his birth, 1879. Between the "18" and "79" was a stork carrying an infant in his claws, and below, between the "18" and "79" was a ribbon with the words "Happy Birthday" written thereon.

A few birthday presents were invited to dinner and all that broke the enjoyment of the day was that his estimable wife was sick and not able to enjoy the feast with them. However, we were not hungry when we left, wishing them a long and as happy life in the future as they have had in the past.

On account of Mr. Walker being absent on his birthday his dinner was postponed until yesterday.

ONE PRESENT.
